

Joe Quatrochi

Health & Fitness Expert and Motivational Speaker

Dr. Joe Quatrochi is a dynamic speaker and consultant who utilizes his years of teaching and research experience to promote optimal health and wellness. He is a renowned professional speaker, highly regarded for his keynote and breakout presentations at conferences and workshops. Whether he's delivering a motivational speech or a wellness seminar, his energetic speaking style engages audiences with thought-provoking questions as he provides common-sense recommendations for those in attendance. Dr. Quatrochi currently holds a position as Professor of Human Performance, and Sport, at the Metropolitan State College of Denver.

Make It Happen! Life Lessons on Leadership and Wellness

Many "wellness" models focus on self-responsibility as the key to promoting well-being. In this motivational session, Dr. Quatrochi will share his personal story and examine self-responsibility as it relates to wellness, disease prevention, and leadership. Come listen to a cancer survivor discuss how a self-examination (and Lance Armstrong's doctor) saved his life. Moreover, he'll detail how a lack of self-responsibility would have resulted in a very different treatment outcome and personal quality of life. Learn leadership lessons to assist colleagues, patients, students, family members (and even yourself) to take responsibility for one's own well-being and success!

"I want to thank you for such an engaging and enlightening presentation last week. I truly appreciate your energy and personal insights. The passion you possess certainly shines through. It is my opinion you touched the lives of the Maxtor employees who attended in a profound way. Your presentation was exactly what I needed to reset my mental compass."

Pamela Reinhardt, Maxtor Inc.

"I congratulate you on your dedication to providing information that challenges the way we think about fitness as it relates to the overweight and/or obese. The research you've compiled and your credentials make this a compelling session and I highly recommend it."

Joan K. Brucha

"Dr. Joe's presentation was both entertaining and informative, he bought a great deal of insight to our audience and we hope to have him back in the future- I would highly recommend Dr. Joe Quatrochi"

Michelle Meyer, Director of Meetings

"Thank you for your commitment to helping people believe health and wellness is within their reach and not something only available to athletes and 'health nuts'".

About Joe Quatrochi, Ph.D.

Dr. Quatrochi currently holds a position as Professor of Human Performance and Sport (HPS) at Metropolitan State College of Denver. He coordinates the Adult Fitness and Exercise Science major in the HPS department. His academic preparation includes an undergraduate degree in Physical Education, and post-graduate degrees in Exercise Physiology (M.S.) and Health Promotion (Ph.D.). He maintains a Health/Fitness Specialist certification from the American College of Sports Medicine. Dr. Quatrochi's primary research interest lies in the area of physical activity for the promotion of health and the prevention of disease.

His professional experiences include extensive activity in worksite health promotion and physical activity programs for adults, seniors/retirees, athletes and public service professionals (firefighters, security inspectors). He has published several articles and chapters in books. In addition, as a professional speaker, Dr. Quatrochi has delivered many presentations to various professional, private and public groups on numerous health/fitness related topics. Most recently, Dr. Quatrochi has shared his experiences as a (testicular) cancer survivor. Specifically, his motivational speeches now integrate the lessons learned in his struggle with cancer with common sense lifestyle recommendations to promote self-responsibility and wellness.
